“ Ricky, we had an unbreakable bond. Our friendship and love we shared will forever be remembered. You had a heart of gold but so many demons you carried daily. I am so heartbroken you're gone but there's some peace knowing you're no longer suffering. It broke my heart to see a side not all were privileged to. I'm so grateful for the genuine connection we shared. The brutal honesty, the love, the laughter, the tears and so much more. I'll forever cherish what we shared and brutally honest we were with each other. I'm going to miss you and our running joke of me being your future ex wife. Lol or the hash tag I want to meet your mom and our inside joke of that. I'll always love and cherish your memories baby boy, Mommy loves you 🥹🤔

Thank you again for your service to our country! May you find peace in your next life!

My condolences to the family and loved ones of Ricky. I remember him as a little boy climbing into the van so he could go to church with us. He was sweet and funny. I know he will be missed. I'm so very sorry.

“ Ricky and I were very close, we FaceTime several times a day for months. We laughed so much together. He always said the kindness words. He would text EVERY MORNING AND EVERY NIGHT say “ baby I love you,” we all know him differently I am blessed I got the best of him, he told me multiple times a day how much he loved me. I miss all about him our last FaceTime was 6 hours long. He said “ call ma asap when you get up,I will miss you until I see you, I love you baby” Then he texted me to say how happy he was. I do love Ricky and I will miss him dearly.
